BABY PARALYSIS TOTALS SIX DEATHS

Another Fatality Reported to Health Board.

FORTY-SEVEN CASES IN CITY

Two Added to List Yesterday, Increasing Alarm of Parents and Activity of Physicians to Suppress Malignant Disease That Threatens Much Harm to Children.

With one death and two new patients yesterday, forty-seven cases of infantile paralysis have been reported to date at the health department. Six deaths have been recorded.

Dr. Le Merle, who is writing the history of a number of cases, said yesterday:

"There is a tendency to report the cases with more frequency than formerly, but the disease is still as much of a mystery as ever."

Disease Not New One.

"This is not a new malady, as many seem to think. For years it has wrought havoc, but has always proved baffling to physicians."

In spite of the prevalence of infantile paralysis in the District, the percentage of mortality among infants is less this summer than last.

Death Rate Not High.

The number of deaths from all causes among infants under one year of age from May 1 to August 7 this year is 394, against 394 for the same period in 1909.

A bulletin prepared by the health officer, entitled "How to Keep Your Baby Well," may be had at the health department.

Committees appointed by the Medical Society of the District of Columbia and the Washington Homeopathic Medical Society assisted in preparing the work.

FINDS WEST AWAKE

Hibernian Editor Narrates Trip Just Ended.

Patrick J. Heltigan, editor of the National Hibernian and past State deputy of the Knights of Columbus, who is now in the Northwest, and British Columbia, was present at a meeting of the Council, Knights of Columbus, last evening, and delivered an address on the work of the Knights of Columbus at the national convention held last week at Quebec. He also attended the national convention of the A. O. H., at Portland, July 19 to 23, and was unanimously re-elected as national editor of the Hibernian Society.

He said last night in an instructive trip. During my absence I visited the cities of Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Butte, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Victoria, Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg, Fort William, Montreal, and Quebec. I was deeply impressed with the wonderful developments. As an instance of the prosperity in the far West I might say that Portland has quadrupled its population in less than ten years, and new boasts of 250,000 people, with good prospects of a gain of another 100,000 in the next five years. The same may be said of Seattle, Tacoma, and Spokane. They are all great cities, and the people are most enthusiastic boosters.

Ahead of Many Eastern Cities.

"In my opinion they are ahead of many of the Eastern cities, and their commercial bodies do not spare expenses in doing things that would attract people to come there. The liberality of the Commercial Club of Portland, in the entertainment of the Hibernian convention, was most remarkable. The local convention committee had no trouble whatever in raising $20,000 from the business interests of the city for the entertainment of the visitors. I think the commercial bodies of Washington might learn many valuable lessons from the enterprise of our Northwesters in doing things that make for the progress and advancement of their communities."

"My trip was instructive in many ways," he continued, "and impressed me with the great possibilities of the States of Montana, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington, and also the new northwestern provinces of the Dominion of Canada."

From Seattle I journeyed by boat to Victoria, across Puget Sound and the Straits of Georgia, and thence to the city of Vancouver, B. C., which is rapidly developing into a great business center, and where I had the pleasure of meeting several young Washingtonians, who have gone into business and are doing well. From Vancouver I took the Canadian Pacific Railway across the mountains to British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, and Quebec. This is the only railroad system in the country which runs trains from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and the enterprise has opened up a rich country to settlers. It took nearly five days to make the journey from Vancouver to Montreal.

Montreal to Quebec.

"From Montreal I went to Quebec, attending the Knights of Columbus national convention, which, like that of its sister society of the A. O. H., was a splendid gathering of the representatives of our Catholic people. It was estimated that about 5,000 Americans assembled in Quebec during the week of the convention, a special train with 125 people going all the way from New Orleans to the ancient city on the St. Lawrence."

"The hospitality at both conventions was most lavish, but especially so at Portland, where the commercial bodies of the city entered enthusiastically into the celebrations."

"I would advise all Eastern young men who are not afraid of work, no matter in what line of activity, to try their fortunes in the great Northwest, where thousands who were poor in the East a few years ago are now making money rapidly, as well as enjoying one of the finest climates in the world."

Mr. Heltigan told Potomac Council that $150,000 of the $500,000 fund had been raised for the Catholic University, and that the balance would be forthcoming on time. The amount already raised is the result of one year's work.

He said the Hibernians had guaranteed a donation of $40,000 to the Catholic Church Extension Society, the amount to be paid within a year. More than 500 Hibernian delegates were present at Portland, besides thousands of Eastern visitors. Mr. Heltigan reports the Hibernian order in fine condition throughout the country.

SMITH QUILTS RACE IN PRINCE GEORGE

Stanley, of Laurel, Indorsed by Democrats.

Democrats of Prince George County, Md., receive a surprise at a conference in the Riggs House yesterday, when George M. Smith, a candidate for the Congressional nomination in the Fifth district, withdrew from the race and indorsed Charles H. Stanley, of Laurel.

Mr. Smith has been making a strong fight for a place on the ticket, and his action was a great surprise to most of his supporters. He made a speech indorsing Mr. Stanley's candidacy.

More than 100 Democrats attended the conference, which was called by the leaders of the so-called organization, though there were a good many anti-organization men present. Dr. Harry W. Bowen presided.

Unanimous indorsement was given the new candidate. The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, on the eve of a campaign of momentous importance not only to the people of this Congressional district, but also to the people of this country, we believe that the prospects of Democratic victory throughout the country are very bright, and that a splendid opportunity is now presented to redeem from the misrule of Republicanism the Fifth district, once so ably represented by those sterling Democrats—Merriell, Hinkle, Chapman, and Compton;

It is hereby resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that its intellectual attainments, his unblemished character, his life-long service, his untiring energy, to the cause of Democracy, and his ability to command a united Democratic vote, that the Hon. Charles H. Stanley is best fitted to be our party standard bearer, and we, therefore, heartily indorse his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Fifth Congressional district of Maryland.

Mr. Stanley is opposed by J. Enos Ray, of Prince George County, for the nomination. Thomas Parran, of Calvert County, is the Republican candidate.

Cow Thief Is Held.

Before Judge Askam, in Police Court yesterday, John Adams, a negro, pleaded guilty to stealing a cow from Mrs. Mary Hoffman, of Brightwood, and was held for the grand jury upon charges of grand larceny.

DOG MUZZLE COMMITTEE NAMED TO DECIDE STYLE

"The Humane Society wants a muzzle that won't hurt the dog, and the health department wants a muzzle that won't hurt the people," facetiously remarked Chief Clerk H. C. McLean, at the health department yesterday afternoon.

And this, in a nutshell, sums up the situation in regard to the kind of muzzles to be used on the canines of the District of Columbia. Under the new law dog owners must not only use a special kind of muzzle, but must compel their pets to push their noses into these contraptions for twelve months a year.

A committee has been appointed to examine the best style of muzzle, to be submitted to the board of health. It is composed of Dr. J. P. Turner, R. R. Ashworth, and Poundmaster Samuel Einstein. Another member of this committee will be supplied by the Humane Society, in the person of Mr. Heap.

CHILDREN'S ILLS IN SUMMER

The hardest period of a child's life is during the heated term. It is then that the little men and women become so subject to stomach and bowel troubles. With one it manifests itself in the form of obstinate constipation, with another the very reverse—diarrhea. One is as bad and as dangerous as the other. Constipation makes the child lose appetite and sleep, makes it languid and sickly-looking. Diarrhea weakens it and destroys appetite and energy. Piles, pimples, eruptions, itchy skin, and a host of other ailments, are indeed very ill. But these are all troubles that can be easily cured. The child needs a few doses of a remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the grand laxative and tonic. Parents can make no possible mistake by giving it Syrup Pepsin, as the chances are always in favor of the child needing a laxative. It is sold in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00, and any druggist can supply you. It cannot be mentioned too strongly that parents should look closely after the welfare of the children during the hot months. If you would like to try it before buying send your address for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE to
